
Instructions Required

Posted by davidr - 2007/10/23 13:56

Got this working fairly easily it seemed.
Still not sure what exactly i need to put in the:
PHPlist List ID
PHPlist Events List ID
PHPlist Attribute ID

Fields.

Anyway i started with just one list ID, i left the events one at "1" as i didn't know what that did, and the attributes i left as "1", i have just two attributes ut wasn't sure how to get both ative.

Anyway the module worked and it let me subscribe, nice visual effects. I got the confirmation email (badly formatted, showing "" where i had entered a return).

Checked the PHPlist backend and i couldn't se that i had been added to the list. tried many times but couldn't get an actual subscription to occur.

Any pointers?

Hi,

Thanks for your message and welcome to our site.

Here I created some basic instructions on how to get it working:

http://www.joomclub.com/joomla_tutorials/sample-configuration-of-our-joomla/phplist-extensions.html

If you continue having problems please let us know which phplist version you're using so we can test.

Enjoy,

Ivan

Thanks for the reply.

All seems well but i am not getting the actual subscription through. i check in the phplist backend and the new subscription does not show.

Checking my PHPlist absolute Path:
/home/myserver/public_html/Newsletter/

Component is installed, module is published. From the front end all seems well!

Any ideas?

Hi David,

Could you please provide the following?

- your Joomla Version
- PHPlist Version
- PHP version

This would be greatly appreciated as it could help us test and improve our extensions.

Kind Regards,

IJE

Hi David,

We've been testing the extensions a lot and something we forgot to mention:

In this first version: The database user for Joomla and PHPlist must be the same!

Thanks and sorry for the inconvenience.

I have another mysql user for the phplist. Does the module work if I add the joomla user to the phplist database?
